On 18 February 1954, [redacted] a portion of the KVP installation at Biesdorf quartered 200 to 300 men. It appeared that the unit stationed there had been changed. Dark red collar patches were observed with sentries and soldiers who left the installation. About 80 men who were armed with carbines were seen doing close order drill in the billeting area. Six trucks [redacted] and motorcycle [redacted] were seen near the installation, which was entered by sedan [redacted] which was occupied by two officers.

Comment. Prior to late January 1954, the barracks installations on Frankenholler Weg in Berlin-Biesdorf quartered the KVP guard regiment. It is still unknown where this regiment moved and what unit reoccupied the installation in mid-February. The KVP guard regiment may have been assigned guard missions in the Strausberg area where KVP barracks installations are under construction.
